COAST IN GRIP OF STORM

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

Now, can you beat it. First St. Mary's is beaten by California. Then California is walked all over by other teams. Then St. Mary's goes east and walks all over an undefeated football team.

* * * *

We got quite a kick out of the radio announcer yesterday morning. At the end of the half he stated in so many words that St. Mary's is a wonderful team, but the Battering Rams were teaching them football.

* * * *

But at the end of the game, the announcer changed his story all together.

* * * *

And what a game it was. And how excited persons became. One person was so excited that when she went to slean her teeth, she picked up the cold cream tube and used cold cream for toothpaste.

* * * *

Take a tip from one who knows and don't ever wash a white dog on a rainy day. For there is ten chances out of ten that she or he will get out in a mud puddle and enjoy herself to her heart's content.

* * * *

It looks as if U. S. C. and California may severe athletic connections, so the sport experts tell us.

* * * *

But upon the other hand, you never can tell what will happen.

* * * *

Another good football game that is coming up will be the U. S. C.-Notre Dame contest. There should be a football game.

* * * *

And Stanford will soon meet Dartmouth. There will be another contest for you.

* * * *

We would like to see St. Mary's meet either U. S. C. or Washington State this year some time.

MILLIONS TO AID STATE JOBLESS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—UP—One hundred millions of dollars to fight the unemployment problems on the Pacific coast.

Prospects of another hundred million within the next few months.

These concrete evidences of fundamental prosperity—individual prosperity that pays rent and fills dinner pail—were revealed today when the United Press completed an investigation of canditions in the western states.

Large Sum

The tremendous sum of $100,000,000.00 is now being expended in construction work now in hand and under way on the coast, while an equal amount will be available from contracts expected to be let during the latter months of this year and the early part of 1931.

Firms Aid

Members of our ten chapters on the Pacific coast, including the intermountain branch at Salt Lake have work on hand totaling in round sums $50,000,000," said Earle G. Lloyd, manager of the California state branch of the Associated General Contractors of America, known as the "big ten" in the construction industry.

"In addition, other firms in the engineering, building and allied construction lines have an equal amount of work under way.

"Prospects for the winter and spring months are good. Building

GAELS DEFEAT RAM ELEVEN 20-12

POLO GROUNDS, New York, Nov. 15.—UP—In one of the wildest football games ever seen in the east, St. Mary's of California defeated Fordham, of New York here today, 20 to 12.

The 40,000 fans who braved the drizzly rain which was falling may have returned to their homes a bit late for supper, but they were rewarded with one solid hour of real football—football of the kind you read about, but seldom see.

The defeat brought to an end Fordham's great record of 16 consecutive games without a loss. The record started back in November of 1928 and was still going strong until the Rams ran into the Gael's from the Pacific slope.

Won In Last

St. Mary's won the ball game in the third and fourth periods by a remarkable recovery. Beaten to a frazzle in the first half by the mighty Fordham forward wall, the Californians took the matter into their own hands at the beginning of the second half and completely dominated the play until the end of the game.

Fordham was leading, 12 to 0, and apparently had the game sewed up when the teams trotted back on

PRICE ORDERS PLAYERS TO STOP TALKING

BERKELEY, Nov. 15.—UP—With the University of California and the University of Southern California involved in a bitter quarrel over charges of asserted professionalism in football, and with Stanford on the verge of entering the dispute that might mean severing of athletic relations between the three schools, Clarence "Nibs" Price, California coach, seemed today to be the only man keeping his head in the situation.

"Quit talking and get ready for Stanford," Price told his squad today. The "big game" and regardless of past defeats or victories, it is always the big game, is but one week away, and Price is anxious for his men to forget the overwhelming 74 to 0 defeat by U. S. C. and to get down to hard practice for the Stanford game.

Price was obviously impatient with members of the squad who had precipitated the present controversy. "You're not getting anywhere with all that noise," he said.

Cahn Scored

Price referred principally to remarks by Fritz Cahn, tackle on the varsity, who said at an impromptu street corner rally Thursday night that California "had just been beaten by the best professional team in the country."

His remarks were interpreted as referring to Southern California and drew forth immediate responses from that institution.

Coach Howard Jones of U. S. C. demanded that Cahn apologize and stated that his remarks were baseless. "Let him come here and prove them or apologize and shut up," said Jones.

Jones Lauded

Vice President Bovard of Southern California backed up the coach. "I can't place much credence in the statements of a man who was on a team just defeated 74 to 0," he said. U. S. C. has a clean conscience regarding Cahn's charges. The team averages younger than it ever did and not a man on the team is anything but an amateur."

Stanford became involved in the affair when "Dink" Templeton, Stanford track coach and sports writer, speaking at an Oakland chamber of commerce luncheon yesterday demanded that Stanford and California should probe the reason why good material goes to U. S. C.

Jones replied to that today, by saying that although California and Stanford get material from the south, U. S. C. only gets southern boys. He mentioned a number of outstanding California and Stanford players who were lured from Southern California cities to the two northern colleges.

"Bum sports," Jones characterized California players. That does not apply to Price. The coach is impatient of the talking and he himself has said nothing. He's too busy preparing for Stanford. After that game, as Dean Thompson, California's Pacific Coast conference representative, has said, California may have something more to say.

SNOW FALLS IN NORTH STATES

Unsettled weather for the next 24 hours with occasional rains was the prediction of the U. S. Weather Bureau last night.

As the storm hit the entire Pacific coast, San Francisco bay region was receiving rain which brought the total precipitation for the year to 1.16 inches above the total for last year at this time. The average of 2.49 inches was not yet reached however.

Ferry passengers were given thrills by the huge white caps that broke over and against the boats as they crossed the bay last night. Tugs towing barges and other crafts strained at their lines to compete with the force of waves which lashed them about their course.

No Damage

No damage to shipping was reported in this area. Electric and telephone wires were undamaged by the storm.

The storm was extending from Juneau, Alaska to San Diego where warnings had been put out by stations in touch with shipping.

Light snow fell around Marysville, and Lewiston on the Trinity river, but melted before snow men could be made by the populace. At Lake Tahoe the thermometer dropped to seven above zero where four inches of snow was reported.

High Wind

At Point Reyes the wind velocity yesterday at 5 a. m. was reported as 35 miles an hour, but increased as the storm grew.

Snowfall through the northwest was general. Motorists out of Walla Walla, Wash., were advised to use skid chains. Snow falling

FARMERS IN WAR ON DUST

MARTINEZ, Nov. 15.—If a meeting scheduled to be held before Contra Costa county board of supervisors in an effort to have dust collectors installed at the Cowell Lime and Cement plant in Clayton valley to protect crops of farmers in that area fails, suit will be brought against the concern to have it abated as a public nuisance, it was intimated by a committee working for the change here today.

Nuemerous meetings have been held between a committee representing property holders in the district and W. H. George, superintendent of the plant, but no definite decision in the matter has ever been reached.

A. C. Carr, as chairman of the dust committee has reported that the dust collectors could be installed at a cost of $85,000.

George at a recent meeting with the dust committee suggested that his engineer, who is now in Mexico make a survey of the situation, in an effort to determine what may be done for the farmers.

It was stated that the cement concern had offered to buy property in the affected areas, but farmers declare they could not get a price sufficiently high enough to pay them for their land.

The meeting is scheduled to be held at 2 o'clock Monday and representatives of all affected parties are expected to assemble at the meeting place.

LEGION GAINS 28 MEMBERS

Richmond American Legion members planning to meet at Oakland airport at 2:30 p. m. today to give membership cards to a pilot scheduled to pick them up there will not make the trip today.

Announcement of the cancellation was made list night when Tex Frolich, Jr., of San Francisco sent instructions to all post commenders in the bay area to telegraph their results to him at Mills Field before noon today.

Inclement weather was given by Frolich as the reason for the cancellation of the proposed flight which was to pick up all Legion membership cards from posts in San Francisco bay area, for forwarding to the National commander.

Fred Sletten, Richmond Legion membership chairman, was to head a group of Legionnaires in their presentation of the cards to pilot.

Sletton was highly praised by Harry Burt, post commander for his work in the membership drive just concluded by the Richmond post. At least 28 new men have been added to the post rolls during the past few weeks.

Membership cards for the year 1931 from men already members of the post have also been received by Sletten.

Plans were under way last night to have the plane, which is No. 7 in the state drive make the trip that has just been cancelled, some time during the latter part of next month. At that time members of the various posts will be on hand to give further reports on their membership drive.

Plans for a huge dry demonstration when congress convenes next month were made at the opening day's session of the convention yesterday.

OESTERREICH CASE DROPPED

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15.—UP—The case against Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich, accused of the murder eight years ago of [illegible] husband, Fred Oesterreich, will be placed off the calendar when it is called Monday and she probably never will be tried again on the charge, the district attorney's office announced today.

Deputy District Attorney James Costello said the case would be removed from the calendar on the ground that the investigation was not completed. He said, however, that the district attorney's office had little hope of ever securing the evidence it needed.

Mrs. Oesterreich, formerly of Milwaukee, was tried previously on the charge but a jury failed to agree.

HIGH CAGERS OPEN SEASON SOON

The hoopsters of the Richmond Union high school will turn out tomorrow afternoon for the first varsity and B practice of the 1930 31 Richmond Union high school basketball season.

Phil Hempler, head coach at the local high school, will tomorrow afternoon assume the generalship of what promises to be a strong, formidable squad.

This year's squad is certain to include the names of many experienced veterans of Richmond high school hoop squads. The strongest factor in the season's probable team seems to be the forwards. Ed. Masek, John Rollino, Ugo Boschetti, and Leslie Marcos, who have all had long experience on the waxed floor, will report for action tomorrow. The team of Rollino and Marcos raised the B team to triumph last season by reason of their deceptive attacks under their opponents' bucket.

Richmond Union high school will this year have two of the tallest centers in its basketball history—Reno Passone and Benny Hoefler. Both men have seen creditable service with the high school varsity, and should be able to give Richmond the advantage of the tip-off this year.

Richmond has an especially strong, experienced, defensive group of guards for 1930-31. Drexel and Scarsella, both A team veterans, will be out for the guard positions tomorrow afternoon, while Rogers and Santilippo, a well-known defensive pair, will attempt to live up to their sensational B squad reputation.

Richmond Union high school has an extra heavy schedule ahead, both before and after Christmas. The season will start Nov. 26, when the local varsity tangles with the Heald's Business college five in the local high school gym.

On Dec. 2 the local cagers will tackle Crockett at Richmond. The date of Dec. 5 is open, The San Rafael Military Academy will come to Richmond to give battle to the Richmond squads. The last game before Christmas will be with University high school at University high.

Following the Christmas holidays, the Richmond Union high school aggregations will plunge into a hard Alameda County Athletic league schedule. The league is one of the fastest circuits in the state, and Richmond high school will have great competition to overcome if it expects to march toward the top of the 1930 basketball rankings. However, Richmond has probably never had a better team than the one it boasts this year, and its chances for victory are especially high.

Oregon State In Victory Over Oregon

CORVALLIS, Ore., Nov. 15.—UP—Oregon State college splashed through a continuous rainstorm to defeat the hitherto unbeaten Oregon eleven, 15 to 0, here this afternoon.

Lost of the game, and necessity of Oregon stepping out of the way of Washington State, so the latter may have a clear title to the Coast championship, however, was not all the bad luck suffered by "Doc" Spears, Oregon mentor.

Johnny Kitzmiller, Oregon's backfield ace, who was injured last Saturday, attempted to get into the game but his ankle gave way on his second play and he limped off the field, his appearance against St. Mary's Thanksgiving Day, being doubtful. Austin Coberi, Oregeon's stellar guard sustained a broken shoulder blade and is probably out for the season.

Two blocked punts and an intercepted pass paved the way for the Beaver scores.

Oregon really never seriously threatened to score.

Bears Defeat Nevada Wolf Pack 8 To 0

BERKELEY, Nov. 15.—UP—Hampered by a fet field, but not deigning to take the game as anything more than a practice scrimmage, California defeated Nevada, 8 to 0 today, before a listless crowd estimated at 3000 persons.

California's first string line and a power backfield played throughout the game, but after taking a safe lead, made no extra efforts to score further.

Two Nevada Threats

Twice during the game plucky little Uevada won through to California's five yard line, but lacked the punch to score.

In the fourth quarter, Al Lefebvre, Nevada halfback ran 52 yards to place the ball within scoring distance, but without avail.

California, obviously playing uninspiring football, looked strong enough at all times, but stuck mainly to line plays and runs that were good for only short gains.

Garrity Scores

Garrity, halfback, in the second quarter, plunged over the line for California's sole touchdown, after a steady march down the field.

In the third quarter, California scored again, when Lefebvre fumbled behind his own goal line, and recovered for a touchback and two points.

Due to the wetness of the field and the slight drizzle of rain that spattered down continually, the aerial game was forgotten. California attempted few passes, and completed only one for a small gain.

Potter Shines

Sheldon Potter played a nice game for California at quarter, and Garrity was a steady gainer at half. Griffith and East filled the other backfield positions capably.

Hank Schaldach did not play, as he was still recuperating from a leg injury and Price was content to save him for the Stanford game next week.

Cougars Nose Out Huskies In 3-0 Tilt

SEATTLE, Nov. 15.—UP—Washington State College battled a stubborn fighting University of Washington eleven here today to win the game three to nothing and the Pacific Coast conference championship.

The lone score was made early in the first quarter when Maskell kicked a field goal after Hufford had fumbled the opening kickoff.

The teams fought on even terms the rest of the game.

Break Means Game

That early break was the turning point in the game. The ball slipped out of Hufford's arms as he was tackled after returning the opening kickoff. Schwartz recovered for the Cougars, on Washington's 25-yard line, and after two line plunges had been stopped and a pass nocked down, Maskell stepped back to the 38 yard line and booted a place kick over the goal for the three points that won the game. The ball barely cleared the cross bar.

Maskell, the hero of this championship battle, was also the hero of the Washington State-Southern California game early in the season, when he made the point after touchdown that won the game for the Cougars.

W. S. C. Champions

Washington State's victory today gave the Cougars undisputed hold on the conference championship, and brought the title back to the northwest for the first time since 1925, when the Huskies won coast honors.

The Cougars mowed down Southern California, California, Oregon State, Idaho, Montana and Washington to end one of their most successful conference seasons. They will journey east to play Villa Nova in two weeks.

A crowd of 41,225, official figures, sat huddled through a cold rain to watch one of the hardest fought games ever played here. The crowd set a new attendance record for Pacific northwest football.

Woods spent several hours in telephone conversations with 44 governors personally, while the remaining four governors were represented by high state officials. All the state executives promised to cooperate in reporting measures adopted to alleviate unemployment.

Y. M. I. TO MEET CANDY NINE TODAY

The First street diamond will this afternoon be the scene of an Inter-county baseball league tussle between the Richmond Y. M. I. team and the Bunte Candy aggregation.

The local Y. M. I. boys will have a hard task on their hands this afternoon, as the Bunte boys are tied with the Richmond Modern Woodmen of America for first place in the league standing. However, the Y. M. I. outfit has been rising rapidly in the ranks of the league, and should stage a heated battle at first street today.

John Babich, signed up with the San Francisco Seals, and Doyle Taylor will be on the Y. M. I. pitching staff today. The Y. M. I. lineup will also include: Lucas, ss; Johnson, c; Eglight, lf; Losee, rf; Korte, 1b; Babich or Taylor, p; Farreri, cf; Prolo, 2b; and Matteri 2b; Snyder and Rogers, utility.

The game will begin at 2 o'clock.

Shriners Will Give Big Dance

More than 5000 Shriners from all sections of the bay district will be present at the ball to be given by Aahmes Temple at the new Scottish Rite Temple on Lake Merritt Nov. 21.

ST. MARY'S IN VICTORY OVER FORDHAM

the field after intermission. St. Mary's lost little time in coming to life. Angel Brovelli, a barrel-legged young man with an indomitable spirit and more drive than an army tank, blocked a Fordham punt and it was St. Mary's ball on Fordham's 25-yard line. Brovelli and Stennett rammed to the Rams 12-yard line, where Toscani fumbled and Fordham recovered, taking the ball again in midfield, the Gae's starting a drive that would not be stopped. Stennett and Brovelli smashed through to the 30-yard line. Stennett flipped a pass that Ebding carried to the 15 yard stripe. After a few futile stabs at the line, Stennett tossed a floater to Sperbeck for a touchdown. Toscani kicked the goal, making the score Fordham 12, St. Mary's 7.

Long Boot

The fourth quarter was filled with action. Fordham took the kickoff and with Murphy leading the way drove to St. Mary's 30-yard line. Here the Gae's intercepted a pass and Stennett immediately got off one of his usual long boots. Here came the break, the big break of the game. Fisher, Fordham's quarterback, fumbled the kick and St. Mary's recovered on the Rams' 35-yard line. Stennett flipped a pass to Toscani, and the ball was on the 20-yard line. Fordham was penalized five yards for excess time out, and then Stennett lobbed a lateral pass to Barrett for 8 yards, from which point Boyle rammed it over for a touchdown. Ebding kicked the goal, and St. Mary's took the lead, 14 to 12.

St. Mary's third and final touchdown was the result of the most spectacular piece of business of the game. Standing on his own 30-yard line, Beasly, sub-halfback, intercepted a Fordham pass and raced 70-yards for a touchdown.

Beasly made the run on his own. Finding himself without interference, he decided to outrun his opponents, who cluttered his way to the goal line. He did just that, putting on a burst of speed that carried him by every would-be tackler. Ebding tried a placement for the extra point, and it went wide.

Aerial Attack

The rest of the game was featured by Fordham's attempt to score by the long pass route, an attempt by the way that was foiled by the Gaels' alertness.

St. Mary's tried a few long ones itself during the closing minutes of the game, and managed to advance to Fordham's 10-yard line.

Fordham secured its first half lead by superior line play, great individual running by Murphy and three highly successful forward passes.

Rams Score

After an exchange of punts in the first period, Fordham took the ball on the enemy's 45-yard line. Here the Rams took to the air. Two passes, both of which went from Fisher to Murphy, paced the ball on the 10-yard line as the quarter ended. On the second play of the second period Janis swept around his own end for a touchdown.

The New Yorkers' second score came near the end of the second half aided by penalties and a neat 30-yard run by Murphy. Fordham moved to St. Mary's 29-yard line. Two line plunges netted a first down, whereupon Fisher flipped a pass to Murphy and he stepped straight down the line for a touchdown.

Trojans Swamp Hawaii 52 To 0

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15.—UP—The powerful Trojans of the University of Southern California swamped the University of Hawaii eleven, 52 to 0, before 30,000 people here today.

The Trojans registered a first touchdown seven minutes after the game started and from then on ran rings around the helpless island team.

Duffield and Mohler were the particular bright offensive Stars for Southern California and they aided the Trojans to assemble a total of 23 first downs.

Coach Howard Jones used every man on his squad today and substituted as many as five men at a time.

Hawaii fought clear to the end but was outclassed. Field stood out in the line play of the islanders and made most of the tackles.

Southern California took to the air often during the game.

MARTINEZ HIGH MAY WIN GRID TITLE

MARTINEZ, Nov. 15.— Although Pittsburg high school has defeated every other gridiron team in Contra Costa county league, its being named champion today hinged upon a meeting to be held Tuesday to determine the eligibility of "Parson" Ramalia, star half-back of the steel city team.

Registration committee of the C. I. F. will meet in Berkeley Tuesday at which time a mass of evidence will be laid before it to determine whether Ramalia is 21, and therefore ineligible under the state athlete ruling.

Should the Pittsburg player be found over the age limit his school will forfeit every game in which he has played, and Alhambra high school of this city will take the championship.

Alhambra has won all of her games except one, and with the ruling against Pittsburg would be named champion of the league for 1930.

C. I. F. ordered Ramalia withheld from the Pittsburg-Alhambra game which the former won by a 32 to 6 score, after W. T. VanVoris, principal of the Martinez school and W. B. Knowles, coach had protested on the player's age.

Van Voris admitted he had been accused of unsportsmanlike conduct in protesting the age of Ramalia, but declared that his teams had to live up to conference ruling and it was no more than fair that other members of the league should do likewise.

Sidney A. Tibbits, secretary of the registration committee; Marsh, principal of Burlingame high school and Rooney, principal of South San Francisco high school compose the committee which will rule on the eligibility of Ramalia.

League Cage Games Will Be Played Monday

The league-leading McRacken quintet will go into action against the Odd Fellows tomorrow evening in the A division game of the City Basketball league at Roosevelt gymnasium.

The Ben Malik squad will tangle with Garfinkle's aggregation in the B division game at 7:30 o'clock.

Tomorrow night's A division clash should supply local fans with a maximum quantity of thrilling basketball. The McRacken boys are thus far the class of the league, while the Odd Fellows have shown plenty of fight and skill in their two opening contests.

The Garfinkle athletes are leading the B division with no losses, having won two games and suffered no defeats. However, the Ben Malik Clothiers are out to gain their first triumph of the season, and should give their opponents plenty of exercise tomorrow night at Roosevelt.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—UP—The question of whether Rudolph Valentino's popularity was waning at the time of his death occupied the final session of the suit over administration of his estate before the case was continued until November 20.

Robert G. Vignola, screen director, said that he believed Valentino was enjoying his greatest fame at the time of his sudden death.

Ullman is charged with misconduct as executor of the estate. The The charges were brought by Albert Guglielmi and Maria Strada, brother and sister of Valentino. Ullman claims the estate now worth $500,000 and not the $1,000,000 they claim, holding also that his efforts alone built it to its present figure after the star died in alleged debt.

Unification Of All Christian Faiths Is Seen

LONDON, Nov. 14.—UP—The reunion of all Christian faiths, possibly during the present generation, was envisioned today in speeches by the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Arcnibishop of York.

The speeches, delivered simultaneously at Canterbury and York, revealed the appointment by the Archbishop of Canterbury of a committee to reconcile the Anglican and Orthodox churches. They revealed also that definite negotiations had been undertaken with a view to church unity.

"We may see in our time the return to that firm, visible unity which marked the undivided church before Christendom was sundered into its various fragments," the Archbishop of Canterbury said in addressing the lower house of the convocation.

The remarks of the Archbishop of Canterbury were reiterated at the same hour by the most Rev. William Temple, archbishop of York, in addressing the full synod of the convocation of York; thus uniting the two highest church officials in expression of hope for unity.

The recent Lambeth conference of Bishops, which was attended by bishops from all parts of the world, paved the way for reconciliation of Anglicans with the Roman Catholic church on the one hand and of non-Episcopalian churches on the other hand, the archbishop of York said.

"In both directions the task is no longer one of issuing a general call for unity," he said, "but it has reached the stage of definite negotiation."

QUEEN HIGH TO BE SHOWN AT THE FOX

Because the players on the talking screen are "larger" and thus seem nearer to the eyes of the audience, the acting tempo is much faster than the acting tempo of the stage.

Frank Mandel, of Schwab and Mandel, Broadway's successful producers of "Good News" "Follow Thru" "New Moon" and "Queen High" discovered this when preparing the original stage production of "Queen High" for the screen. Mandel had been told that much of the original would have to be eliminated to fit into the time, about an hour and fifteen minutes, of an average length feature picture. He didn't think so.

Accordingly he set a stop-watch and enacted every part of the original show at motion picture tempo. He found that this process took him an hour and fifteen minutes. This was found to be true when the screen version was finished at Paramount's New York studio. Action and dialogue were maintained at a pace so fast that they would have been meaningless on the stage.

Thus the finished production, which comes to the Fox-California Theater today contains all the hilarity of lines and action of the original three-hour show compressed into an hour and fifteen minutes of screamingly funny screen entertainment.

Charlie Ruggles and Frank Morgan, two Broadway veterans of fun-making, head the comedy support. Stanley Smith, who was Nancy Carroll's boy friend in "Sweetie" and "Honey" and Ginger Rogers, the "cigarette me" girl of "Young Man of Manhattan," are the romantic leads in this amusing tale of big business and monkey business.

U. C. L. A. Professor Wins High Honors

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13.—Dr. Loye Holmes Miller, chairman of the department of biology at the University of California at Los Angeles, has just been elected a Fellow of the American Ornithologists Union, according to telegraphic advice just received at the university. It is a distinction shared by but four other men located west of the Mississippi river. The election is an honorary distinction for work done by Dr. Miller on fossil birds. He is at present working on some prehistoric stork fossils, the work being done jointly for this university and for the California Institute of Technology.

Gigantic Gun Site Marked By Monument

LAON, France, Nov. 15.—UP—At a sport not far from here where the famous German "Big Bertha" first opened fire on Paris at 75 miles range, a commemorative tablet has been placed to recall the havoc the huge gun wrought.

The steel monster was dragged into position early in 1918 in a cleverly-concealed emplacement at Crepy, a few kilometers distant from Laon. On March 23, 1918, the first shell went shrieking more than 20 miles up into the air to fall with terrorizing effect upon the French capital.

For four months, intermittently, the 60-foot giant vomited death and destruction. Only the tip of its muzzle protruded above the sheltering trees. So the gun was difficult to locate.

The position was eventually found, not by direct observation but by "arm-chair tacticians," who worked out the location by calculations based on the time apparently spent by the shells in flight, combined with certain astronomical deductions. Subjected to a fierce counter-fire, the gun was moved to be located at Soissons, from which position it was moved and destroyed when the German armies collapsed in 1918.

The Germans were to deliver the documents relating to the gun under the terms of the Versailles Treaty, but the demand never was complied with. Those in the secret pledged themselves to death rather than divulge their knowledge. All research and experiments by the French and other European military authorities failed to produce a monster equalling the German death-killer.

Famous Savant Named Curator Of Art Museum

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15.—Baron Hans Nordewin von Koerberg, noted linguist, traveler and lecturer, has been appointed honorary curator of Oriental art at the Los Angeles Museum of History, Art and Science, located in Exposition park here.

Dr. von Koerberg is chairman of the department of Oriental studies at the University of Southern California. Before coming to the Trojan institution in 1928 he was professor of French, German and Oriental languages at the University of the Philippines. Prior to that time he lectured at the University of Amoy, China, and in Java, Borneo and Sumatra. He also headed an ethnographical expedition in central Africa, engaged in linguistic research in central Asia, west China and Tibet, and traveled in Siberia, Mongolia and Chinese Turkestan.

"Southern California, as the extreme southwestern part of American and European culture, with Los Angeles as its great and rapidly growing metropolis, will one day form the nucleus for the exchange of the best treasures which Occidental and Oriental mankind has to offer for the benefit of the world," Dr. von Koerberg said today.

Several years ago the professor, disguised as a Buddhist priest, made a perilous trip into forbidden Tibet and Mongolia. He brought back with him several valuable prints and paintings which were displayed last June during the Golden Anniversary celebration of U. S. C.

New Orleans Prepares For Winter Season

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15.—UP—Orleanians are all set for a rousing winter season.

And judging from early activities of everyone from the jockies at Jefferson park race track to prohibition agents — things are getting set for a big start.

Dozens of night clubs, some of the admittedly disguised gambling casinos have opened during the last fortnight.

Speakeasies have been increasing in number. During the last two weeks in October the dry agents averaged one raid a day.

With the opening of the racing season at Jefferson park Thanksgiving Day, bookies have been getting ready. Already at least a dozen are operating in the business district.

With money scarce, Jai Alai, Westport, Arabia and other gambling casinos have set up 25 cent tables. Other tables have a dollar minimum and the sky the limit.

Roulette, the tourist's favorite game, can be played with stakes as small as 10 cents.

Orleanians, who like to dance while they gamble, are accommodated with a dozen exclusive "clubs" at the edge of the city.

Despite business conditions being classed as poor, club operators and theater men here say business is better during the present season weeks this year than last.

Railroads Said To Be England's Biggest Asset

LONDON, Nov. 15—UP—British railroads represent the largest enterprise in Great Britain. There is only one concern larger and that is the state itself.

Roughly, $5,562,950,000 are invested in railroads and this stupendous investment brings an annual income of more than $1,018,500,000. About one-twelfth of the population of Great Britain is dependent on the railroads for its living.

The number of people directly employed is 656,000. Each year the railroads order 16,000,000 tons of coal, 210,000 tons of rails, 21,000,000 bricks and a number of similar items. Because of these orders and the number of people actually employed by the railroads themselves, one-twelfth of the population of Great Britain prospers as railroad activities prosper.

Great Britain from the standpoint of economic depression is recognized to be in great difficulties. The success enjoyed by railroads reflects the same condition. During the first nine months of 1930, passenegrs and light freight, merchandise, coal, coke and heavy freight hauled showed a decrease over the corresponding period of 1929.

Passengers and parcels carried decreased in number to bring about a decline of $11,271,400. Losses suffered in merchandise amounted to $15,106,000. Heavy freight slumped by $8,084,950. The total loss amounts to $34,462,350.

NANCY CARROLL IN FILM AT THE FOX

Nancy Carroll, the adorable idol of millions of film fans, is triumphing in a new dramatic play which will open tomorrow at the Fox-California theater.

"Laughter" is a vehicle which gives full opportunity to Miss Carroll for a display of her emotional capabilities. She doesn't miss a moment of this big chance for new dramatic honors. Throughout the tense action of the play Miss Carroll sweeps along in a superb portrayal of an ex-Follies girl who, as the wife in a misguided marriage, tries to be loyal—and is, but who always seems to be victimized by the irony of circumstances.

Frederic March, as a young pianist-composer who had been in love with Nancy prior to her marriage to Frank Morgan, the rich broker, pops into the picture again as a romantic menace, a sort of Bohemian heartthief and trouble maker.

A series of unfortunate events gets Nancy more and more into ill-favor with Morgan. Finally she is accused of the death of a young sculptor suicide. She eventually proves her innocence, but the scandal has been too much for her long suffering husband, and he breaks off with her.

There is a romantic rebound from the earlier love with March which colors the finale of the picture.

GERMANY MUM ON PACT OFFER

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—UP—Germany is showing statesmanlike restraint in refraining from openly responding to Italian indications that Mussolini is not averse to revision of the Versailles peace settlement. Gestures in this direction mark the beginning of Italy's apparent desire to establish an entente with Germany. If a German-Italian understanding could be brought about, Italy's position in Europe would be strengthened, but Germany's might be weakened.

At the beginning of the world war, Italy did not enter the conflict with Germany and Austria though she was in the position of an ally. The Germans have not forgotten this fact, and a cautious attitude toward Italy is inevitable. The German Fascisti who desire to creat a regime resembling Mussolin's in their own country, might be expected normally to look with favor on Italian friendship.

Hitler Austrian

But, Hitler, the leader of the German Fascist movement, is an Austrian, and Austrian territory was annexed to Italy after the world conflict. Strong anti-Italian feelings have been shown by Austria, which have led Mussolini to utter threats against efforts to keep alive Austrian loyalty in the annexed area.

If Germany were in a position to strike for compulsory revision of the Versailles treaty, Italian aid would be important. But, for many years to come, the Germans will remain impotent in military strength. Should Germany unite now with Italy, the Italians would have a possible chance of winning victories, but Germany would be overrun by French troops and would be helpless.

Skilled Diplomacy

Germany, therefore, cannot afford to reach for the sword. Only by skilled diplomacy and economic threats can the Germans obtain changes in the treaty. Italy's slowly developing pro-Germanism may, perhaps, be counted upon to assist Germany at the council table; but the Germans cannot promise Italy anything in exchange. It would be impossible for Germany to win French and British statesmanship to her side if the outcome were to be a German-Italian entente in exchange for Italian diplomatic assistance.

Germany, therefore, must continue to play her hand alone, or very shrewdly take advantage of Italy's ambitions while resolved not to become involved, herself, in helping Mussolini, France, especially, is very suspicious of Italy's designs, and while France remains antagonistic to revising the Versailles pact, Germany can do nothing. Intimations of an eventual German-Italian agreement after Germany gets fully on her feet, however, must inevitably make France uneasy. By playing for French friendship, therefore, Germany may find a way of breaking down France's present insistence that no change be made in the peace terms. French statesmen must consider the time when, even if it is a generation hence, Germany will regain her former power. By helping Germany to come back, France may keep the Germans away from Mussolini in the eventual future. This is an important factor in the problem which is increasingly assuming major interest for European statesmen.

STATE WARS ON INFANTILE PARALYSIS

BERKELEY, Nov. 13.—The newly organized, central distributing center for infantile paralysis convalescent serum at the University of California Hooper Foundation for medical research has been working at full capacity since June 1, aiding physicians of the state in minimizing the danger of permanent paralysis in children, according to a report made today by Director Karl F. Meyer.

Between June 1 and October 27 the report sets forth, Miss B. F. Howitt, research associate in medicine, and her assistant, distributed some 15,700 cubic centimeters of convalescent serum to 16 counties of California. This serum was sent out in 50 cubic centimeter flasks, each sufficient for one injection. A total of 325 of the flasks were sent out by special messenger or otherwise, but as some patients required more than one injection it is estimated that about 250 received treatment.

Sixteen Counties Aided

The counties which received serum service during the period included Los Angeles, Alameda, Fresno, Marin, Monterey, Placer, Santa Clara, Sacramento, Santa Barbara, Stanislaus, San Mateo, Humboldt, San Benito, Sonoma, San Joaquin and an Francisco.

Director Meyer points out that the wisdom of the anonymous donor whose yearly contributions of money make this distributing center for infantile paralysis serum possible, has been justified by the service that was rendered to sick children during the epidemic of recent months. State department of health reports show that from January to the middle of September, 1930, 110 cases of infantile paralysis occurred in California. From the middle of September to the end of October more than 350 additional cases were reported.

In order to secure the blood of individuals who once had the disease for the purpose of making serum, Miss Howitt made trips to Fresno, Stockton, San Jose, Modesto, Patterson, Oakland and Berkeley. A total of 183 blood donors were used, five of them three times and 15 twice. The total amount of blood donated was approximately 30,000 cubic centimeters. This is reduced to about half in the manufacture of the serum.

It is the consensus of opinion among physicians that convalescent serum, if used early enough, will either lead to an uneventful recovery from the disease, or will minimize permanent paralysis with its consequent disfigurement or crippling.

FRENCH LOSE ON TOURIST TRADE

PARIS, Nov. 15.—UP—The first tourist statistics for the present year show that France will make about $100,000,000 less off American visitors than she did in 1928. It confirmed her worst suspicions regarding the Wall Street crash.

When Wall Street stocks started tumbling last winter, the majority of Frenchmen shrugged their shoulders and declared their prosperity would never be endangered by events across the Atlantic. The summer has passed and the sour tourist figures are making French shoulders droop and calumny is being heaped upon the United States.

Unbiased estimates places American expenditure in France this year at approximately $120,000,000 which is a decrease of $100,000,000 over 1928, and more than $20,000,000 over 1929.

The French figure that when 1930 ends they will have made at least 20 per cent less on "les Americains" than they did last year. It is chiefly the deluxe hotels, shops and restaurants which are complaining.

The irritating feature to Frenchmen is that while France is losing tourist trade, Germany is steadily gaining. Since 1927 American tourist expenditures in France have decreased approximately 28 per cent, while their spending in Germany has increased about 120 per cent. The figures are striking. Frenchmen candidly admit German tourist advertising and propaganda is much superior to French.

M. Gaston Gerard, commissioner of Tourism, has been fighting all summer to obtain the suppression of several taxes and restrictions annoying to foreign visitors. He has succeeded in removing many of them.

EXPERIMENTS WITH TREES WATCHED

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15.—UP—Lumber companies, with thousands of acres of cut over lands on their hands, and plantation owners desirous of varying their crops from the staple cotton, have been watching experiments in gulf coast states, with the Chinese Tung tree.

Several of the experimental plantings have already proved successful in Louisiana, Mississippi and Florida.

If they lead to extended planting and if the climate and soil prove as conducive to growing as the early experiments indicate, lumbermen and planters alike, forecast a big amount will be lopped off the importation of the valuable oil importations from China.

This country's imports of the oil, a necessary commodity for making certain automobile varnishes and many other articles of commerce which are derived as by-products, have doubled since 1922 and in 1929 represented $14,972,084.

The most extensive experiment in Louisiana has been conducted by the Great Southern Lumber company at Bogalusa. The company has indicated that it will supplement its policy of restoration with the Chinese tree, although it expects to make reforestation its major policy.

Three years ago, it planted approximately 100 acres of Tung trees on old farms and fields, which this year produced about ten tons of fruit. In addition, the company is growing; approximately 30,000 Tung trees in a nursery which will be utilized either for planting additional lands or supplying nursery stock for this region.

Gland Operation For Children Seen By Medico

PARIS, Nov. 15.—UP—Doctor Serge Voronoff, conqueror of old age and sterility through monkey gland grafting, told the United Press that he soon hopes to announce a gland operation for children which will guard them from old age and decay.

"I have succeeded in giving old men and women a new lease on life by my: monkey glands," said Doctor Voronoff. "Why, then, shouldn't I try monkey glands on children before they reach the age of puberty and thus give them added physical strength to enrich their lives and increase their span of years?"

He admitted he was on the point of accepting propositions from several mothers to graft monkey glands on their children. These children, he explained, had weak or defective bodies and their physical strength could not keep peace with their mental power.

"I am sure," he said, "that if I took a child of eight or nine with a body in poor physical condition, I could develop the body and brain by the same process which has rejuvenated men and women whose force and verility has begun to fail. Instead of turning back the time-clock for old people I could advance the life-span for young people."

Doctor Voronoff also said that he was on the point of perfecting a gland operation which will cure diabetes.

Doctor Veronoff will start a series of experiments on French sheep next spring to improve their weight and wool production thru glandial operations similar to those carried out in Algeria. The wool men of Roubaix-Tourcoing are donating several hundred sheep. In Algeria, Doctor Voronoff succeeded in taking an inferior breed of sheep and producing supersheep by adding another reproductive gland to the ram in charge of each flock.

American, British Financiers Hold London Conference

LONDON, Nov. 15. —UP— A group of leading British and American financiers were here today, and were understood to be discussing a possible moratorium on world war debts and consideration of world financial problems, particularly the distribution of gold.

Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, was the principal British conferee. On the American side were J. Pierpont Morgan, Owen D. Young, author of the young reparations plan; General James G. Harbord of the radio corporation and George L. Harrison, governor of the Federal Reserve bank of New York.

So important are their meetings, it is understood, and so great their desire for secrecy, that they have bee cloaking their conferences as private visits, dinners, luncheons and the like.

The fact that Young has visited United States Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, himself a financier of note, and has conferred with him at length during the last few days has emphasized the belief that important conversations were proceeding in which the United States might be interested.

Milk-White Skin, Newest Edict Of Beauty Experts

PARIS, Nov. 15.—UP—Bleaching for sun-kissed skins is the latest beauty treatment prescribed by beauty czars that control the destinies of loveliness. Sunburn must go and milkwhite skin come back, they say.

Skin-bleaching is the most sinful beauty course ever invented, since it involves application of strong acids which tear off sunburn much the same way as blowlamps rip paint off woodwork.

After a belatedly hot summer, fashionable women have returned to Paris with coffee-colored complexions, to learn with amazement that peaches-and-cream is once more restored to popularity as the prevailing complexion.

There are three classes of treatment for removing sunburn; one by message with creams, another by the use of rose lights, the third by the application of stinging lotions. This third, although easily the most painful, is the most in demand, because it enables a woman to remove the hard earned tan from her face, neck and shoulders in three or four days.

Argentinan In Study Of Davis Farm Methods

DAVIS.—Mario Estrada, agricultural engineer of Buenos Aires and secretary of the National Society of Horticulture in Argentina, is a visitor at the University of California Branch of the College of Agriculture here. Estrada expects to spend several days investigating various phases of agriculture and the agricultural practices in use here.

Argentina has a problem of drainage in connection with irrigation that parallels that of some sections of California. Application of water has brought a rising water table with its attendant alkali, and unless drainage can be installed, the land may be rendered unfit for crops, as has been the case in some sections of this state. The drainage problem there is made more difficult because of the flat character of the land and drainage by ditches into rivers is impractical.

Estrada also is interested in the pre-cooling of apples and temperatures at which they may be shipped. Argentina is exporting apples to Euroe and to New York during the winter season of the northern hemisphere.

AGUINALDO TO ASKS P. I. FREEDOM

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—UP—Emilio Aguinaldo, Filipino leader, soon will attempt to gain by his wit the national independence which he failed to obtain by force of arms early in the century.

The commander-in-chief of the one-time Philippines' Republican army will come to Washington in January to, ask congress to grant Philippines independence.

Advance indications were that Aguinaldo will receive a friendly reception and a more than polite hearing.

The name of Aguinaldo carries much prestige because of his interesting personal career and because of his loyalty to the late governor-general Leonard Wood during his administration.

For a quarter of a century Aguinaldo, while out of public life, has exerted a profound indirect influence on insular affairs. His profession is that of a planter, and he grows large quantities of rice at Cavite.

Among those here who will greet General Aguinaldo most cordially are members of the Order of the Carabao, composed of American veterans of the Philippines insurrection.

Veterans here recall when General Aguinaldo took up the battle against the American forces which he previously had waged against the Spanish. He gained an extraordinary reputation for military ability and personal bravery before his capture by General Funston at Palawan, on the Island of Luzon, March 23, 1901.

Aguinaldo is 60. He is said to have been of Chinese and Tagalog parentage. Early in life he began the study of medicine in Manila.

Politicians here presume that Aguinaldo will voice the maximum claims of the Filipino people for complete and immediate independence. The Filipino leaders have taken the position that the preamble of the Jones law of 1916 promising independence when a stable government is established is permanently in effect and of binding character.

Ladies Don't Prefer Blondes

MARGUERITE MOOERS MARSHALL

BLONDES have been getting the breaks for so long—
Getting the beauty contest prizes, the front row in the chorus, the HUSBANDS—
That poor, dear, put-upon brunettes must read with relish
Of how brunettes have achieved one victory—
Even though they are brunettes of the male sex!
Ladies DON'T prefer blondes—
According to a report published on the romantic reactions
Of the three hundred and thirty-one women students of the Cooper Union Art School.
The unanimous choice of these young women is a tall dark man as the ideal suitor!
They are divided on such questions
As whether he should hate red neckties, or lik "necking,"
Whether he should be a cave man, or an intellectual, or an athlete,
Whether indifference is a desirable quality in the male;
But, as one woman, they arise and demand, for Romeo,
A TALL DARK MAN! No blonds need apply!
This verdict merely confirms our own observation—not to say personal taste—
Gentlemen may prefer blondes,
But isn't it a fact—we think so, anyway—that girls prefer dark gentlemen?
Less has been said about this girlish fancy
Than about the male penchant for the Lorelei Lees,
But we believe the girls, in their own quiet way, are just as choosy
About the reverse pigmentation.
Surely you remember how, in the old novels and dray-mas,
It was the dashing, black-mustached seducer for whom the girls invariably fell!
There seems to be something about the man with flashing dark eyes and raven locks
That attracts irresistibly the female of the species.
A real woman, in the first place, prefers a man
Without the slightest suggestion of effeminacy.
And a pink-and-white blond boy may suggest a "sissy"—
Though the suggestion is not the truth about all blond males.
There was nothing sissyfied about the blond Norsemen
With their flowing tawny locks and their eyes like blue flames or swords!
Then a woman, strange as it may seem, likes and admires brains in a man,
She knows that blond women are often, if not always, mental lightweights—
"Human canarybirds," some catty brunette has christened them—
And, by an association of ideas, she thinks that blond men
Are less clever, more shallow, than their brunette brothers.
A woman also has heard, all her life—
And believed—unless she herself be blonde—
That blondes are insincere, conceited and fickle.
By natural transference of epithet, she therefore is inclined to believe
That the blond man doesn't mean the nice things he says to her,
That he will expect her, if she marries him, to spend the rest of her life
Telling him what a wow he is—
Until the moment when he decides to elope with his stenographer!
Finally, if a woman herself be a blonde,
Being seen with a dark man makes her delicate charms shine by contrast;
And, even if she be a brunette, her skin will seem fairer, her appearance more enchantingly feminine,
When set off by the society of a properly bronzed brunette male.
It is, of course, terribly unfair—
Just as unfair as the masculine preference for golden-haired darlings—
But it is, we are convinced, a fact—
This general feminine predilection for the dark, dashing charmer!
So the only thing the blond man can do is to dye his hair,
Or, if not that, to achieve as brunette a disposition as possible—
Or, finally, to wait until he is born again
A perfect blonde Lorelei—
And, then and there, to catch up for what he lost in his previous incarnation!

I'VE BEEN THERE

I sing of the kitchenette wife,
A very adaptable Jane,
Her cooking is done without strife.
In a closet with nary a pane!

A wicked can-opener she wields,
And says, as she washes the pans:
"I've heard that some foods grow in fields,
But all that I eat come in cans."

Her sewing machine's worth a peep,
When used as a two-in-one table;
But where does she sleep? Under what does she creep?
You tell 'em, for I am unable

So hey for the kitchenette wife!
Who uses each crevice and cranny,
May she have all the best of this life,
And not let this rime get her nanny!

THE RETORT FEMININE

(From "The Woman of Andros," by Thornton Wilder)

Niceratus, one of the more assured of her guests, asked her what life would be like in two thousand years.

"Why," she said at once, "there will be no more war."

"I should not wish to be alive in a world where there was no war," he replied. "That would be an age of women."

Now Chrysis was jealous of the dignity of women and lost no occasions to combat such hasty disparagements. She leaned forward and asked encouragingly:

"You wish to serve the state, Niceratus?"

"I do."

"And you admire courage?"

"I do, Chrysis."

"Then go bear children," she replied, turning away.

THE JOSHUA TREE

The knotty Joshua Tree looks very cross—
A queer scarecrow dressed up in scraps of bark.
He flings his thorny arms to stab the air,
And finds delight in being so stern and dark.

The Cactus Bush looks up to him askance,
And wonders many things . . . even as I,
When suddenly I turn to frown at you
And meet a look of scorn within your eye.

Use Old Corks as Cleaners

A CORK is an excellent scourer. Dipped in kerosene it will speedily remove rust from metals. Dip it in the scouring powder or rub it over the scouring brick and it will put a fine polish on steel knives. It is also a good medium for applying silver polish, and it will often remove stains from silver if used just dry. Stubborn spots on the windows will yield to vigorous rubbing with a dry cork. It will quickly remove burnt marks on baking dishes if dipped in moist salt. Cork moistened with turpentine will cleanse hearth tiles.

In fact, cork is an effectual cleansing medium and it never scratches, but in all cases vigorous rubbing is necessary to produce successful results.

Bottles can readily be cleansed if finely cut cork is added to warm soap water in the bottle and well shaken. So keep the large corks handy in a box or jar near the sink for rapid and effectual cleansing.

A DISH A DAY

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

Some of our readers who put up a supply of pickles and relishes that they thought sufficient to last through the winter have found to their dismay that the reserves are about exhausted. And by this time their families have developed such a taste for home-made relishes that they just won't be astisfied with the store kind.

KAREN HOLLIS

They needn't sigh for the return of summer days, however, for there are many delicious relishes which can be made inexpensively from garden products now in the market. And there are several others which can be made from unsweetened canned goods.

At the special request of Mrs. D. J. Traynor of Astoria I am going to give you a recipe for pepper relish that is always popular. This makes a large quantity of pickle, but it is well worth while to make a large supply even if your family is small.

PEPPER RELISH

24 large green peppers
24 large red peppers
12 large onions
3 pints cider vinegar
5 cups brown sugar
2 tablespoons celery seed
2 tablespoons mustard

Wash the peppers, remove the seeds and put them and the onions through a grinder with a fine blade. Cover them with salted boiling water, using one-quarter cup of salt to each quart of water. Let stand for ten minutes and then drain. Repeat this process three times, squeezing out the water thoroughly the last time. Add vinegar, sugar, celery seed and mustard, bring to a boil and then simmer for forty minutes. The relish may then be canned or stored in a crock.

A delicious relish to serve with roast meat can be made from canned, sour cherries. Pour off the liquid from a large can of cherries and cover the cherries with vinegar. Let stand over night. Next day pour off the vinegar, and measure the cherries, packing them down tightly in the cup. Allow a cup of granulated sugar for each cup of cherries, and mix well. Do not cook, but merely shake the cherries and sugar from time to time until sugar is all dissolved. This relish does not need to be packed in jars, as it will keep indefinitely even when exposed to air.

Keep the Kids' Clothes Cozy and Trim

It's Not Too Much for a Child to Expect to Be Presentable as Well as Warm

By Ann Roberts

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

IT'S all very well to shove the youngsters out into the cold healthy air and tell them to keep well or you'll lick them. But there are the clothes for playing and schooling—just as important as your own if you have an eye for style—and most terribly for the chilren's own morale.

PLAID MUFFLER AND BERET TO MATCH

They don't want to look like unwieldy bundles of miscellaneous wool any more than you want to look at them when they look that way.

There are fashions and fashions for these very young but the best of them are the simplest after all. A frill or a furbelow on a baby thing has a way of looking most effectively out of place—almost a deformity

And the styles for childhood today cling tenaciously to straight and unadulterated lines fitted to their baby personalities and ages.

Snow Play

WHEN they play in the snow they need a lot of freedom and they need a lot of warmth in their clothes. For that nothing is better than the fleecy sweater coats, leggings, caps and mittens. You can pull these garments on to a young thing over woolen underclothes, and you have a perfectly satisfactory covering, warm and protective in itself. Also you have a child you can be proud to call your own as you pass it on the great highway.

They get soiled—yes—all children's clothes do that little thing, but they can be washed without losing one little bit of their warmth or their presentability either.

Coats for the Growing

TWEEDS are just as fascinating in younger versions as they are for the older ones. They are smartness personified and so sweet looking If you want them to have fewer trips to the cleaners then choose the darker tones of red and blue and brown. But study your kid and don't stamp it with too heavy a coloring if it is a delicate make-up. It will feel the subtle weight of that more quickly than you can imagine.

Patterned tweeds are good too with little capes or broad turnover collars And the simplicity of a straight row of buttons down the front helps the quaintness of the idea.

Hats are done of the same materials, stitched like mamma's hat is this year with a little brim turned back sharply at front and sometimes a furry pom-pom—sometimes a gay little feather for trimming.

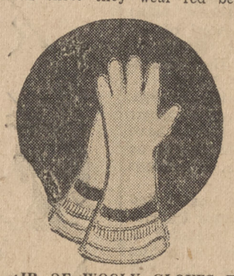
Blue Regulation

WHEN in doubt buy the blue chinchilla with its lining and hood of red. No child can fail to look happily dressed in one of these and they hand down with so much adaptability to the younger ones. A whole family of youngsters dressed in coats like this all made alike is an attractive sight to see, and who knows who is wearing whose coat the following year? There's something in that.

With these they wear red berets and red sweaters underneath. They are either for boys or for girls, so that the entire family can be matched up if you wish.



A PAIR OF WOOLY GLOVES FOR WINTER PROTECTION

The Sweater Idea

THE jersey jumpers and the knitted sweaters get all the votes from families that have tried them out. The young approve and the mothers know enough to appreciate their wearing qualities to the utmost.

Little girls wear plain sweaters with pleated plaid skirts or striped sweaters with plain skirts. And the boys dress according to the same idea, their little pants being short to an extreme and their sweaters stretched tightly over manly little forms.

Outdoor Accessories

LITTLE boys playing outdoors are best protected by leather leggings. Then their little short jackets of leather lined with sheepskin worn over their sweaters keep them safe from any quantity of chilling blasts.

Gloves of fleece have deep gauntlet cuffs to hug the wrists and to keep that most important portion of the child's anatomy protected. They come in all sorts of gay colors and stripes attractive to the young.

For little girls there are wool plaid berets with scarfs to match and tie tightly about their sensitive little throats. The children love the brightness of them.

Boys do not scorn the plaided or striped mufflers—fact is they love them too—something about the hug-me-tight quality appeals strongly to them.

Bleaching Out Stains

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

TO remove wine, fruit and other stains from linen, silk and similar fabrics without injury to the cloth, is often quite difficult. This is particularly true of fine silks and linens. Any effort to remove the stains by applying bleaching material directly to the unprotected fabric nearly always results in destroying its gloss or finish, and, sometimes, in attacking the fibres, thus breaking them, and producing pinholes in the texture.

A techno-chemical wrinkle overcomes this difficulty, by providing a protective blanket through which the bleaching material can operate without injury to the fabric. This is accomplished by first making a jelly of soap suitable for use in washing fine fabrics of silk and linen. The soap is flaked through a soap grater, then boiled into a jelly by the addition of water.

The bleaching material is supplied in the form of finely powdered potash, and is applied after the articles are covered with the soap jelly and laid out on the grass. It is simply sprinkled on the jelly, over the spots to be bleached. The articles remain on the grass for twenty-four hours. When dry, rain water is sprinkled over the spots, when the spots will have disappeared.

If rain water cannot be obtained, use distilled water for making the jelly, and for sprinkling after the articles have dried on the grass.

Feeding Your Skin

ANOTHER letter from a lady who has been "dieting." She "cannot understand why a perfectly normal skin should suddenly become dry and show a tendency to lines and creepiness." And she wishes to know, "Could my reducing diet have anything to do with it?"

FRANCES OLIVIER

Lady, it has everything to do with it. Starve your system of oils and fats and your skin is bound to show the effects. Give it an overdose of oils and fats and it will likewise show the effects. Broad hints to you with the dry skin and you with the stubbornly shiny skin, girls!

As you feed your tummy so shall your skin be. Something to remember when you are tempted to go in for drastic dieting or to overindulge a perfectly human desire for pastry and butter and fried delectables.

Given a choice between a willowy form and a scrawny neck and a plump silhouette accompanied by firm, smooth skin, which would you choose? We should choose the combination of plumpness and the lovely skin every time!

Do you know what it is that makes a skin moist and young and firm and smooth? It is a layer of fat directly underneath the skin—a layer of just-enough fat. Too much and you have a bloated look. Too little and you have a dried-out prunish sort of look.

And the way to keep that very important little cushion of fat just right is through well-balanced feeding and regular exercise. Fatty foods, but not too much of them, included in the daily menu and at least one hour of brisk walking, or twenty minutes of some more strenuous exercise—preferably outdoors.

This is the way to keep the figure and the skin in beautiful condition. This is the secret of preserving a young body and a young face, as opposed to the fashionable figure topped by failing faces. . . . Oh, Reducing, what sins have been committed in your name! Sins against skins and dispositions—yes, and even figures!

To be sure, the fat-starved skin can be lubricated from the outside, kept fairly smooth and soft through rich creams and lotions and correct manipulation. BUT the real feeding of the skin takes place from the inside out! That is nature's way. And thus far nobody has invented a better way!

It Is Said—

You can remove dry gum from fabrics by putting on a few drops of gasoline—the gum will crumble right off.

Popcorn will pop better if it is sprinkled with warm water just before putting it in the popper.

If you put a lump of sugar in the teapot before the tea is made it will not stain the table linen in case it is spilled.

TELLING THE WORLD

GETTING OUT THE VOTE

FOR the last eighteen years the town of New Ashford, Mass., has led the nation reporting its election returns. This year the polls were opened at 5.45 A. M., the entire enrollment of thirty-six voted, the polls were closed and all the ballots counted by 6.25 A. M. How would you like to live in a town like that?

SCENE: Voting place of New Ashford, Mass. TIME: 5.45 A. M. on Election Day. CAST: The whole adult population.

WARDEN—I've counted noses and a couple of voters are missing. If we don't get our election returns out by six-thutty, it'll give the town a black eye.

TELLER—That's right. Where's Zeb Hatch? He's usually here on time.

VOTER—Zeb can't find his suspenders.

WARDEN—Tell him to keep his hands in his hip pockets and hustle down here to vote. New Ashford can't disappoint the whole nation.

VOTER—I told him that, but he's afraid his pants might roll down while he's marking his ballot.

WARDEN—Then make him put on overalls and come down and vote. It's getting high on to 6 o'clock.

(They bring in Zeb wrapped up in a blanket and he votes.)

WARDEN—That makes thirty-five ballots cast and there's one missing. Who's the guilty man?

TELLER—It's that new city feller that moved into town last year.

WARDEN—Don't he know if you live in New Ashford you're supposed to get up with the milk men and vote?

TELLER—I warned him, but he said his rising hour is 9 A. M.

WARDEN—Good heavens, we can't keep the polls open till then! It would upset the country if New Ashford's returns were held up till an hour like that.

TELLER—Let's organize a mob and rout him out of bed.

(The enraged electorate sets out for the city man's home.)

A VOTER (kicking at the front door)—Hey, wake up! It's time to vote!

CITY MAN (from upstairs bedroom window)—Gwan! It's only five minutes past 3 o'clock. I'll be down in three or four hours.

VOTER—We can't wait till then. New Ashford's reputation is at stake.

CITY MAN—And who are YOU supposed to be?

VOTER—I'm a sort of Paul Revere to wake up the registered vote.

CITY MAN—Well, get on your horse, Paul, and take a good, long ride for yourself. I'm going back to bed.

VOTER—Come, come, my good man. Get up and exercise your franchise now.

CITY MAN—I don't take any exercise before 9 A. M. GOOD NIGHT!

VOTER—It ain't night. Why, it's 10 minutes past 6 in the morning! You've simply got to get up and cast your ballot.

CITY MAN—Just so Los Angeles can go to breakfast and find New Ashford's returns in her morning papers, I've got to get up from a nice warm bed now? Not much!

VOTER—But this early vote is what makes New Ashford famous. Why, we're famous all over the United States.

CITY MAN—For what?

VOTER—For tabulating our complete vote before most people are up.

CITY MAN—Well, your fame is going to go under some nice warm blankets THIS year. See you later, boys.

VOTER—Oh, please get up and vote now. They say it's going to be a landslide.

CITY MAN—I wouldn't get up at this hour for a flood! That's final! (He slams down window with a bang.)

(The voters on the front lawn hold an indignation meeting, bust into the house and bring the city man, in his pajamas, to the polls on a stretcher. He casts his ballot at 6.28 A. M. and New Ashford is made famous till 1932.)

THIS AND THAT

The Democratic voters took care of that famous Alabama gusher very neatly.

Four men were killed in Kentucky election fights. They vote bullets out in that country.

MORE MONEY FOR DAM ASKED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—UP—Secretary of Interior Wilbur is seeking an additional $15,000,000 appropriation to carry on construction of the Boulder dam project at the coming short session of congress.

Elwood Mead, reclamation commission, began today his discussions with a house appropriations sub-committee relative to the $15,000,000 appropriation sought for Boulder dam and $10,000,000 for the regular reclamation projects of the government. The committee is preparing appropriation measures for the session when opens Dec. 1.

The initial appropriation for Boulder dam work last year was $10,660,000. The reclamation appropriation was about the same as that requested this year.

The additional money is to be used to construct temporary dams, necessary to hold back the river waters while the dam itself is being constructed, and four large tunnels, the latter to be used to divert the water during construction.

The tunnels are to cost $18,000,000 and will take about 18 months to complete. Two of them are to be used eventually in connection with generation of power at the power plant. Each is to be 50 feet in diameter and 50 feet high.

During the next few months, as work progresses, about 1,000 additional laborers will be employed, Mead said. About 150 are now engaged in preliminary construction work.

Christian Science Lesson Subject

"Mortals and Immortals" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon today in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The citations which comprise the lesson-sermon will include the following from the Bible: "Now this I say, brethern, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption. We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed, For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality. So when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, Death is swallowed up in victory." (I Cor. 15:15, 51, 53-54.)

The lesson-sermon also will include he following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "When the last mortal fault is destroyed, then the final trump will sound which will end the battle of Truth with error and mortality; but of that day and hour, knoweth no man. Truth will be to us 'the resurrection and the life' only as it destroys all error and the belief that Mind, the only immortality of man, can be fettered by the body, and Life be controlled by death." (p. 292).

Many Nations Will Attend Big Air Meet

PARIS, Nov. 13.—UP—The Ministry of Air has announced their intention of sending delegates, inventors and experts to the first World Aerial Security congress here, December 10 to 23.

The French government hopes that the congress will advance safe travel in the air by ten years. Every form of aerial travel is to be considered. Inventors will be encouraged to attend with their delegations and demonstrate safety appliances.

Two days will be spent at the government experimental aerodrome at Orly where inventions will be given a practical demonstration. Much attention will be paid to parachutes. Inventors will be encouraged to leap with their own inventions.

The sessions will be held in the mansion of Prince Roland Bonaparte, in the avenue d'Iena after the opening session presided over by President Doumergue. Twenty-three monarchs and chiefs of state have consented to act as patrons.

Congress' principal duty will be to create a permanent organization to study every project for aerial security and to co-ordinate research work. It is possible that a world safety research laboratory will be created as an outcome.

Inventors have turned to solving the problem of making it possible for the crew and passengers of dirigibles to be saved, as a result of the R-101 disaster. There is already one idea for a detchable parachute cabin that can be allowed to float down with a fireproofed parachute.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—UP— Meet Nell, said by her owner, Prof. T. J. Littlepohn of Exeter, to be the only telepathic greyhound in England.

At the invitation of Doctor H. Mansfield Robinson, who plans to try the dog's telepathic powers on Oomaruru when he makes his next attempt to communicate with Mars, the United Press correspondent was introduced to Nell.

Nell, an affectionate animal, looking like any other thoroughbred greyhound, was "trained" in the "art of telepathy" by her master who, to back up his contention that his dog has "psychic powers," signed a statutory declaration in the presence of a London solictior. In it he does "solemnly and sincerely declare as follows:

"1—My greyhound 'Nell' has the ability to convey mental messages to me by telepathy, of which power I have given you the following examples out of very many others that have occurred."

Several examples are then given, including the following three:

1—"In August, 1926, when the said dog was at Exeter and I was at Falmouth, she conveyed to me a message that she had been locked up in a coal house and had gone without her tea, as to the truth of which I have provided signed statements of four witnesses.

2—"On returning from Ilfracombe to Exeter on 22nd April, 1930, I was met by 'Nell' and got from her a telepathic message formed of the words 'Kitten, kitten, kitten.' On making investigation I found that my cat had just given birth to kittens in 'Nell's' basket and she was the first to convey this intelligence to me.

3—"I witnessed on the 25th July, 1930, at 3:30 p. m., in London, the perception of a mental message from Nell by Dr. Mansfield Robinson that she wanted water. He said he got this message, fetched the water which 'Nell' drank greedily and then went to the doctor and rubbed his knees to express her gratitude, and then conveyed to me a message that the doctor wanted to go upstairs, which he admitted was correct."

WESTERN AUTO SUPPLY CO. MOVES

Of interest to Richmond automobile owners is the moving of the Western Auto Supply company from its location at Eleventh street and Macdonald avenue where it has been for the past six years, to a new and better quarters at 1235 Macdonald avenue.

The move, which was completed yesterday, was brought about by the steady growth of the company which made it necessary to seek new and larger quarters. The building which now houses the Western Auto Supply company has been remodeled to suit the requirements of the accessory company.

"In our new home, we are able to display our merchandise to a better advantage than was possible in the old location," says C. J. Johnson, manager of the Richmond store. "The merchandise can be shown in such a manner that the customers will be able to better inspect and compare the many different types of automobile accessories.

"Each department—tires, radio, battery, golf, camp goods, etc., has a separate location so that customers can see at a glance exactly where to go for what they need.

Four days of celebration will mark the opening of the new store on automobile row. In this event is featured many of the needed and timely automobile accessories. An inner tube will be given free of charge with every tire sold during the "New Location sale," says Johnson.

"Beginning Wednesday, November 19th and lasting until Saturday night, November 22, we are offering to auto owners of Richmond and vicinity, outstanding economies, so they may share with us the completion of our improved new store which so greatly increases our facilities for serving autoists of this city."

Doctors Scored In Deaths Of Two Persons

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 15.—UP—Coroner Earl Smith today termed activities of two Portland doctors in assuming all of the responsibility in two violent deaths here within 24 hours as "almost criminal."

The coroner referred to the case of Mrs. Leone Bowles, society matron who plunged a knife through her heart. In the Bowles case Dr. Paul B. Cooper, who answered the call, failed to report to the coroner's office.

Dr. Smith also referred to the case of Michael Laffaw, 74, a night watchman, who died several hours after he was found mortally wounded on a bed at his home with a revolver near his feet.

Coroner Smith said circumstances in the two cases were similar, as the coroner was not notified until hours after Laffaw died—when the undertaker called.

"In both cases these physicians took it upon themselves to be coroner, jury, judge and court and managed to mess things up so we could do very littel," Coroner Smith said.

Gangster Curses, Given Sentence

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—UP—Members of the Chicago Flower club visited the court of Judge John H. Lyle "to see a hard-boiled judge in action." They did.

The flower clubmen expressed the desire firs to see a real gangster. Frank Rio, bodyguard for "Scarface Al" Capone, was in the bull pen waiting trial for vagrancy charges. A bailiff asked him to turn around for the benefit of the prisoners.

Rio cursed a first class gangster curse. The clubmen gasped. The bailiff informed Judge Lyle.

The judge promptly sentenced Rio to six months in jail for contempt of court.

CONSTRUCTION WILL AID JOBLESS

will not come into its own for a few months yet, but railroad, bridge and highway construction along the Pacific slope is moving right along, with the Western Pacific-Great Northern project the largest in that line.

Plant Work

"Many prominent Pacific coast contractors have lined up millions of dollars worth of work in pipelines in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and other oilfields.

"The Ford plant here in Richmond is costing around $5,000,000 and the Golden Gate bridge prospect for 1931 will boost the bridge construction totals by $31,000,000."

Sees Good Year

W. A. Bechtel, head of the W. A. Bechtel company of San Francisco, sounded a similarly optimistic note in an interview with the United Press.

"I expect 1931 to prove an excellent construction year," he said. "We have had a good year already, and so far as we are concerned have no unemployment problem.

"In conjunction with the Utah Construction company of Ogden we have on hand one of the largest railroad contracts that has been let in years, and this job alone will take care of hundreds of men.

Good Work

"We have pipeline jobs in Texas, Kansas and Arizona which are keeping us so busy we have had no time to think of a so-called period of depression."

Walter J. Wilkinson, prominent contractor of Watsonville and president of the California State branch of the "big ten" said, in a hurried interview as he took a train for Los Angeles:

"Our construction work around the Monterey bay district has been the best in years."

Much Work

A telegram sent H. V. Bogert, manager of the Seattle chapter of the A. G. C., elicited this reply:

"Work our members have on hand totals approximately twelve millions. One of our biggest contracts is the Denny re-grade job, which will be finished by March 1 and will give the city of Seattle several more goood business blocks. The work of other contracting firms outside our own organization has been very good with excellent prospects for 1931."

The construction situation in San Diego is in good shape, according to a telegram from M. A. Mathias of the southern California city. A contract for construction in Imperial county, held by the Hazard Construction company of San Diego, brings that city's total to over $1,000,000.

New Work

Three and a half million dollars' worth of work is under way in the Salt Lake area at this time, according to Mark Tuttle, manager of the Intermountain branch of the A. G. C.

"This figure does not include the large railroad contract held by the Utah Construction company which totals several millions additions," Tuttle added.

Los Angeles is averaging excellently in new construction, according to P. H. Calahan, prominent engineer of that city, who is in San Francisco today.

"The Los Angeles territory has enjoyed a healthy growth, structurally speaking," Calahan told the United Press.

"The members of the A. G. C. alone will run more than $3,000,000 per month for the year's average, and other contracting firms outside the organization are doing as well."

Total of work on hand in Portland runs into several millions, according to George B. Herrington, contracting executive of the Oregon metropolis.

West Coast Is Held In Grip Of Big Storm

around Spokane, Wash. had turned to rain late yesterday.

All hope of finding the six pilots missing in the black wastes of British Columbia was given up yesterday as heavy snow storms swept through that section of the country. Seven American and Canadian planes were engaging in the search for the missing aviators until the storm halted their progress.

In Arizona, warnings were sent out to expect frost as soon as the rains in that section have passed over. The mercury dropped to 18 degrees above zero, U. S. Weather Bureau reported.

Rain Falls

Interior California points were appreciating the rain, and farmers were making preparations to plow and plant as soon as their lands have dried sufficiently from the downpour to allow them to work.

Butte county farmers had delayed their grain planting expecting such a rain that was falling yesterday. At Porterville .21 inches had fallen during the night and .86 inches during the storm. This was well above the seasonal normal.

Kern county was greeted with rain which had fallen steadily for 48 hours. Cotton pickers were hurrying their work in an effort to get the product in before too much damage had resulted.

Skies will be clearing late today with a normal return by tomorrow, U. S. Weather Bureau predicts.

Interrupted Meal

FRED HEDBERG, Seward, Alaska, big game hunter, with the huge Alaska brown bear he dropped with a single bullet. Hedberg made the kill a moment after the bear had won a terrific battle with an enormous Kenai bull moose. The bear is said to be the largest killed in years on the Kenai peninsula, famed the world over for its big game hunting.

MAYOR TELLS OF SLUSH FUND OFFER

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 15.—UP—Mayor George G. Birdsall of Colorado Springs testified before the senate campaign funds investigating committee that he was offered $5000 to further a political campaign of the Public Service company of Colorado, a public utility of the Doherty group.

The offer was made, he said, in March of 1928, by Harry McCauley of the U. S. internal revenue office, at the time the public service company was campaigning for a gas franchise in Colorado Springs, while the mayor was a member of the city council.

"He told me he could get $10,000 if I would support the franchise, he to keep $5,000 and I to get the other $5,000" Mayor Birdsall testified.

The evidence was adduced as the first day of the committee's investigation into the Colorado senatorial primary and general election campaigns drew to a close after its authority to investigate had been challenged by a long string of witnesses.

Managers, treasurers, and workers for George H. Shaw, general counsel for the Public Service company, who wrested the Republican senatorial nomination from William V. Hodges, former Republican national committee chairman, refused firmly to testify on the financing of his campaign, which Hodges charged was aided by the utility.

They refused on the ground that they might incriminate themselves under the Colorado law making it a felony for a candidate for the U. S. Senate to expend more than $5,000.

Those who refused will be given an opportunity to withdraw their refusal tomorrow by Senator Gerald P. Nye, Rep., N. Dak., chairman of the committee.

Student Jailed For Publication

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 15.—UP—Kemble K. Kennedy, law student and former president of the Louisiana State University student body, has been sentenced to one year in the parish prison for his part in publishing a lampooning college sheet, "The Whangdoodle," last April.

Judge Carruth Jones sentenced the young law student to three months each on three counts of criminal libel, and one count of circulating obscene matter. He was found guilty yesterday.

Besides the prison term, Kennedy faces the loss of the law degree for which he worked six years. College authorities announced that even if an appeal is successful, Kennedy will not be given his degree.

Kennedy was indicted four days before he was to have been graduated.

Nov. 15.—UP—The first shipment of head lettuce from La Jara this year by the San Luis Valley Growers' exchange consisted of two truckloads, one being distributed among the various towns of the valley and the other going to Pueblo. The lettuce crop tributary to La Jara is looking well and a good quality is anticipated.

SPAIN TO OUST DICTATOR IS REPORT

MADRID, Nov. 15. —UP— The Spanish cabinet has moved to end its dictatorial form of government and return to parliamentary rule after elections which may be held early next year.

An official ministerial proclamation was issued after a two-hour session of the cabinet at which King Alfonso XIII presided. The king agreed to the plans of Premier Damaso Berenguer to call elections and return to parliamentary rule.

The ministerial proclamation set forth that a parliament would be elected as soon as the electorial census had been completed.

It was announced that among the first tasks of the proposed parliament would be adoption of the gold standard for the peseta at a rate corresponding to its "real value."

The proclamation declared parliament, as soon as elected, would take up various social problems now causing unrest among the people, including improvement of the situation of the laboring class.

Reorganization of the army and navy to obtain "maximum efficiency for a minimum disbursement" was announced among the many items on the ambitious program. Adequate protection of national industries would be provided, it was declared.

The proclamation was taken to mean that the present regime headed by Premier Berenguer was not as had been supposed, a transition government, but that the cabinet intended to remain in office after elections, co-operating with the new parliament, which it will call into being through elections.

Rising feelings among certain classes for a republic, and labor outbreaks in recent weeks were believed to have speeded up the government's promises and led to today's decision.

Stabalization Of Spanish Coin Sought

MADRID, Nov. 15.—UP—Pierre Quesnay, director of the bank of international settlements, conferred here today with directors of the bank of Spain. Although he talked freely with reporters, the French financier avoided reference to stabilization of the Spanish peseta, saying that because he had only just arrived in Madrid, discussion of such problems would be premature.

Quesnay will remain in Madrid five days conferring with prominent financiers. He conferred late today with the minister of finance.
